

David Domoney MI HORT

YOUR AWARDS IN SAFE HANDS

Your Awards in Safe Hands

Successful awards ceremonies rely on the host. David is a presenter on 'live' television where there are no second takes and the performance needs to be right first time, on time, every time.

A decade as a public conference speaker adds the unique reassurance of a confident, experienced performer who is also a current television favourite.

Entertaining, animated and passionate in front of even the most liveliest of awards night audiences David keeps things running professionally with a touch of showbiz sparkle.

Credentials

Since the early '90's David has worked as a presenter on programmes such as ITV's This Morning, GMTV and a variety of other consumer prime time shows including 'House of Horrors', 'Plant Doctor' and the 'From Hell' series.

With his team he has proudly won 17 Royal medals for corporate clients awarded by the Royal Horticulture Society for his show gardens at events such as Chelsea Flower Show. He regularly appears at consumer lifestyle events and road shows across the UK.

To date David has presented close to 100 awards ceremonies, most of his mainstream clients bring him back year after year knowing that their awards are in safe hands.

Hosting Style

David handles award presentations with the skill, efficiency and time-keeping that he applies 'live' every week in front of 3 million viewers.

As an experienced compère David can take charge of any audience with charismatic stage presence and panache.

Spontaneous and humorous points of observation keeps things fun and enjoyable to add a touch of glamour to an awards event.

Public Speaking

In addition to compèring and awards hosting David presents on commercial business strategies all over the world.

With a strong corporate background in retail sales and merchandising he is an engaging, inspiring and motivational speaker with star quality.

As an After Dinner Speaker. David's popular post conference or pre-awards 'stand up' comedy routine, regaling stories from behind the scenes of a British television presenter, always guarantees entertainment.
